FACTORY NEW

The SchureMed Schure Socket, model 800-0006, allows operating room staff to quickly position surgical devices along standard operating room table side rails. This versatile tool provides flexible mounting options for various devices, ensuring easy access and precise placement during procedures.

The socket prevents movement on mounting posts, securing equipment in place to maintain stability throughout surgery. Its durable construction ensures reliable use in fast-paced operating room environments.

Designed for efficiency, it helps optimize space and streamline surgical setups, contributing to a safer and more organized operating room.
