

MCM Medium Finger Trap | MCM 357

Stock Photo - Options May Vary

FACTORY NEW

The MCM 357 Medium Finger Trap is engineered to securely hold and stabilize a patient's fingers during surgical procedures. Built with durable, high-quality components, it provides reliable grip and tension control for delicate surgical work while maintaining patient comfort throughout the procedure.

Designed for repeated clinical use, the MCM 357 delivers consistent performance and dependable stability. The trap's construction supports the precision required in hand surgery and related procedures without compromising ease of application or removal.

Available in a complete range of sizes to accommodate various surgical requirements, the MCM 357 integrates seamlessly into standard surgical setups. Healthcare facilities can rely on this finger trap for consistent, quality performance across multiple procedures.

Brochure and images are a general overview of the product. Actual product options may vary.*

Toll-Free | Local
800-627-3215 | 813-740-8640

salesteam@venturemedical.com

View this product online →