

MCM Small Finger Trap | MCM 356

Stock Photo - Options May Vary

FACTORY NEW

The MCM 356 is a small finger trap designed for delicate surgical procedures requiring precise stabilization. It provides a secure grip without compromising patient comfort and is specifically engineered for smaller fingers used in orthopedic and hand surgeries.

Constructed with top-quality components, the MCM 356 maintains strength and shape through repeated use. Medical professionals can rely on consistent tension and control during intricate procedures.

The finger trap supports a wide range of surgical applications in both hospital and outpatient settings, helping to improve surgical efficiency and patient outcomes through reliable performance and durable construction.

Brochure and images are a general overview of the product. Actual product options may vary.*

Toll-Free | Local
800-627-3215 | 813-740-8640

salesteam@venturemedical.com

View this product online →