FACTORY NEW

SchureMed Skytron 3501B Surgical Table Pads are designed to meet pressure management objectives for operating room tables, stretchers, armboards, and other surgical padding applications. With over 20 years of experience in pressure management, SchureMed has developed engineered foam and covering material combinations optimized for surgical patients.

These pads feature multiple layers of foam to maximize pressure-reducing properties. The multi-layer construction addresses the limitations of single-foam designs by conforming to the patient's body, providing support, and preventing bony prominences from bottoming out during extended surgical procedures.
